Little Brown John Dougherty Indian Difficulty.

The perils of prospecting in this wild nountry are well illustrated by the following account, with which we are favored by R. P. Stevens, of an adventure which took place last Sunday, and resulted in the death of an Indian by the hands of those there seems to be good reason to suppose he was trying to murder. It appears from the statement made to us Mr. Stevens, that the other day he and Mr. Newton, who keeps a boarding house on Panaca Flat, started from Pahranagat in company with two Indiansone grown and the other a boy-in search of a quartz ledge which the elder India nformed Newton and Stevens he could show them. Before starting out, these gentlemen were warned by some of the chizens of Pahranagat to beware of the Indian, for he bore a bad character, the indian, for he bore a bad character, and was suspected of killing a white man and two Chinese. Messrs. Newton and Stavens thought, however, that they would take the chances, calculating that if the Indian exhibited any bad designs, that they would be more than a match for him. On Sunday last the party arrived at the place pointed ont by the Indian as their destination, which was in the Highland range, about 40 miles south of Pioche. After satisfying themselves that there were no indications such as the Indian described, the men proposed to return forth-Grass Valley, June 18.—John Miners, who was caved upon Tuesday at the Jindian as their destination, which was in the Highiand range, about 40 miles south of Pioche. After satisfying themselves that there were no indications such as the Indian described, the men proposed to return forthwith as it was a long way to the next water. The Indian, however, wanted to camp at that spot for the night, but the prospectors refused to do so and started on their way back. As they proceeded down the canyon, the Indian kept lagging behing, and though they waited for him five or six times, he always kept out of sight. After leaving the canyon the party kept on for about six miles and then camped for the night. As Mr. Stevens was taking the saddle off of his horse, he saw the Indian about a half a mile distant, but he still kept floor, and did not come into same the campuncture.

Grass Valley, June 18.—John Miners, who was caved upon Tuesday at the Jindian distings, has not yet been recovered. Men have been constantly at work trying to reach him, but so far have failed. This morning six skilled miners from the Idaho mine were detailed to prosecute the search, and have been working all day. Nothing has been been working all day. Nothing has been heard from him since some time yesterday afternoon, and it is now supposed he is dead. A great number of citizens have visited the scene of the accident. Miners is said to be worth $100,000.

As three "soiled doves" were wending their way down Carson street last evening, a young man off-red some indignity to them. Not being in an amiable mood one of the Cyprians went for the young man with a chair, while the other two assisted in combing his hair with their fingers. The disturber of the doves left. of his horse, he saw the Indian about a half a mile distant, but he still kept aloof, and did not come iuto camp, either to supper or when the party went to rest. The Indian boy said that he half a mile distant, but he still kept aloof, and did not come into camp, either to supper or when the party went to rest. The Indian boy said that he thought that he had gone back the other way. The men went to rest about the usual hour. About 11 o'clock a slight pain in the side woke Mr. Stevens, and a he lay a wake he say the Indian should s he lay awake he saw the Indian about iffy yards off, cautiously making his way towards them. At this instant Newton coughed in his sleep, and the hoise caused the Iodian to hide Newton coughed in his sleep, and the noise caused the Indian to hide bimself. Stevens then woke Newton and told him the way the Indian was acting, and they lay and watched for about ten minutes. Seeing nothing of the Indian during that time, they concluded they would get up and look around, taking their pistols with them. They had not gone more than sixty steps before the Indian started up, and at once complained of being very sick and wanted water and food. The whole party returned to camp, where

A woman named Duffe, whose husband resides in Crown Point Ravine, was taken in charge last evening by the Deputy Sheriff, upon an order of Court, it appearing from the evidence of competent physicians that she is insane. Although not absolutely dangerous in her paroxysaus, it was still considered not ontirely safe to suffer her to remain at large, and her husband, under advice, concluded to have her taken to Stockton, with the hope that by proper treatment her mental health may be restored. She was brought to the County Jail in a spring wagon, accompanied by her husband. She was hand cuffed, to prevent any effort to escape. The irons were reband. She was hand cuffed, to prevent any effort to escape The irons were removed when she reached the Courthouse. She seemed to partially comprehend her situation, for when she was litted out of the wagon by her husband she embraced him tenderly and burst into tears. She is a woman of prepossessing appearace, and the scene affected all who beheld it. She was quietly placed in a comfortable cell, where she will remain until taken to the Insane Asylum at Stockton.—[Virg. Independent, 20th.

Washington, June 17.—The Senate Public Lands Committee, having taken no action on Pratt's Mining Patent bill last night, will meet this evening. The very lively discussion yesterday opened by Stewart against the bill, tollowed by Sutro in its advocacy, and was closed for the evening by Senator Jones, who is reported to have handled Sutro and the bill very roughly.

LATER.—The Senate Public Lands Committee has just bad a special meeting, and by a vote of five against four decided to recommend that Pratt's Mining Patent bill be indefinitely postponed. The vote for indefinite postponement stood: Ayes—Windom, Kelley, Oglesby, Boutwell and Stewart Noes—Sprague, Tipton, Harvey and Pratt. The result is considered a great triumph for the Comstock mine owners over Sutro.
